

CTO – Chief Technology Officer (m/f)

We are Whow Games

In the heart of Hamburg City, your new job is waiting for you - including startup feeling. Together with 50 colleagues, you work to bring the glamour and entertainment of Las Vegas to Europe - with our successful Social Casino on Jackpot.de. From slot machines to table games, our players can experience the entire entertainment experience of the largest casinos in the world for free on their smartphone, tablet or PC.

Who are we looking for?

As our Chief Technology Officer (m/f), you'd have the opportunity to actively participate in forming the future of Whow Games, adding your own ideas, and being part of our unique story of success! Would you like to help move our IT department forward and further develop it? Then you're exactly who we are looking for for our Hamburg-based game factory! Full-time and hopefully as soon as possible.

Your area of responsibility:

- You'll be responsible for all technical areas such as software development, QA & data science, and ensuring our quality standards, especially with respect to project & code review
- You lead the discipline and technical coaching of several teams consisting of developers, artists, and QA personnel (ca. 22 MA) in agile methods and you support their technical further development. In addition, you'll assume the coordination of our external developer studios located in foreign countries
- You'll define an IT strategy that optimally coordinates all internal and external requirements and you'll be responsible for their result-oriented implementation; all the while you'll be in constant contact with the stakeholders and you'll ensure that their vision of the final product is implemented successfully
- You'll work in close cooperation with our project manager in defining workflows and processes
- Together with the HR department, you'll put together a sustainable and successful recruitment & employer branding strategy so as to help us continue to find the best developer for our endeavors
- You'll participate in our fair exhibition appearances/conferences

What you bring:

- Multi-year experience as a CTO, head of technology or something similar
- Experience in leading several teams or entire company departments while possessing a profound understanding for new technologies
- Excellent knowledge in developing state-of-the-art applications in the fields of web & mobile
- You are an inspiring manager of people, who serves as a model while leading his/her team to peak performances
- You are characterized by your entrepreneurial methods and your experience in establishing and leading strong IT teams
- Confidence in conducting business discussions in English, which is a prerequisite
- Ideally, you have experience with and a good understanding of casinos or slots

In addition to start-up flair and exciting tasks, we offer:

- Dynamic environment with flat hierarchies and quick decisions
- Flexible working hours and home office
- Regular company events
- Fruit, drinks and meal allowances
- Contribution to the HVV Profi Card

Interessiert? Dann freuen wir uns auf deine Bewerbung! Bitte sende deine Unterlagen an:

jobs@whow.net